Jos. Brown's case was continued until Wednesday, as the young man Smith is high and dry.

Pat Carr, drunk and disorderly conduct; sent to the workhouse for two months.

Orlando S. Murray was presented, charged with stealing $700 from Thos. K. Conn. The case was over hearing, when the court adjourned to meet again at 2 o'clock, this following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That these joyful events, following so speedily, the brilliant achievements by which the noble Grant and his heroic army renewed the freedom of Mississippi and the law of the country, and the public manifestation of delight, that the hearts of the people, overflowing with thanks to our victorious leaders, are granted to Heaven, be acknowledged by all their friends.

Resolved, That C. N. Warren be appointed the treasurer of the school committee, and all the collections made by the school committee shall report to him.

Resolved, That the citizens of Jeffersonville be requested to contribute to the expenses of the military parade, civic procession, and a display to the public, in honor of some public manifestation of delight, that the hearts of the people, overflowing with thanks to our victorious leaders, are granted to Heaven, be acknowledged by all their friends.

Resolved, That the chairman appoint a committee to be chosen in each ward in the city, and a similar number for Jefferson county, to solicit subscriptions to defray the necessary expenses incident to carrying out the purport of these resolutions.

Resolved, That C. N. Warren be appointed the treasurer of the school committee, and all the collections made by the school committee shall report to him.

Resolved, That the citizens of New Albany and Jeffersonville are respectfully invited to participate in the military celebration.

Resolved, That the city authorities be requested to make an appropriation to enable the committee to carry out the resolutions.

ARREST OF A HORSE THIEF.—On Friday morning a dispatch was received by the city Marshal from Mr. Brower, at Lexington, Ky., stating that a horse had been stolen from him, and that the thief had come this way. Officer Tiller was notified of the fact, and, on Sunday night, he, with the assistance of officer Francisco, of Jeffersonville, succeeded in arresting at that place a man sailing under the name of William Smith, who, at the time, had in his possession the very identical horse that had been stolen from Lexington. He also had with him a fine gray mare, three years old, which is also supposed to have been stolen. The thief was lodged in jail, and the horses are in the possession of officer Tiller.

The officers deserve great credit for the prompt manner with which the arrest was made and the property recovered. The accused was before the Police Court yesterday, when it was continued until next Thursday. In court the man gave his name as William Brown.

ARREST OF A SPY.—On Sunday night Capt. Dunn and West, of the Twentieth Kentucky, succeeded in arresting on Fifth street a man who gave his name as Alred Radle, but whose real name is Dr. Elias Casman. Casman is a native of Lexington, Ky., and has been in the rebel service since the commencement of the rebellion. For some time back he has been in our State acting as a spy, and the military have been on his track for a long time. On the night above named he came to this city to see a young lady, and on that visit was arrested.

We understand that he was one of the party that robbed the bank at Carrollton a short time ago. In court the man gave his name as William Brown.

THE Journal learns that Colonel Love, of the Eleventh Kentucky mounted infantry, who was sent from Bowling Green in search of Hamilton's guerrillas, came up with them on Friday at Celina. He immediately gave battle and succeeded in defeating the band, killing three, wounding four, and taking several prisoners, with the loss on our side of one man killed.

MESSRS. & CO., Cambridge, at 310 Fourth street, have an admirable assortment of dry goods that are attracting general attention. Their list in another column is attractive.

Let our ladies and Cambridge be forgotten, for the day of celebration has arrived.

Resolved, That the city authorities be requested to make an appropriation to enable the committee to carry out the resolutions.

STATE FAIR.—The sixth annual exhibition of the Kentucky State Fair will commence at the Fair Grounds, near this city, to-day, and continue during the week. A large number of fine cattle have already arrived at the Fair Grounds from the farms of the most extensive stock raisers in the country, and every train that arrives brings more. In addition to the stock of our own State, there will be some from abroad, as the competition for premiums is open to the world. The exhibition to-day will consist of rings for bulls, cows and heifers; bulls of hinds and cows, sweepstakes for bulls and cows of any age, fat cattle, work oxen, sheep, cashmere goats and swine. For each ring there will be a large number of entries, and the competition for the premiums will be exciting. The pony ring for boys under twenty years of age is also on the bill for to-day. Let all lovers of fine stock attend. A large number of strangers have arrived in the city, and we hope to see the large amphitheater filled.

A FATHER ROBBED OF SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS.—On Sunday night, Adam Knape, son of Mr. Knape, who keeps a grocery store in this city, lost his father's house carrying away with him the sum of $600 of his father's money. Since that time diligent search has been made, but no trace of him has yet been found. It will be remembered that a boy of a large amount of money and was arrested. The father refused to prosecute the case, and the boy was discharged, a greater portion of the money being recovered.

WE WISH TO TELL.—We learn that a woman on the Bardstown train, whose name our informant did not know, was killed on the Nashville road near Brook's Station, about twelve o'clock yesterday morning, under the following circumstances: He was at the time coupling two cars, when the coupling iron broke and the cars, coming together, caught him between them and he was crushed in a horrible manner as to cause instant death. He was a resident of Bardstown, Ky., where he leaves a family.

LOVERS OF FINE STOCK should make it a point to visit the fair to-day. This day is especially devoted to cattle, sheep and hogs. The various machinery and the variety of fruits, vegetables, &c., will of course present attractions daily, but to-day more particularly is the day for stock. The premiums are large and the entries are said to be numerous.

LAWS.—We direct the attention of readers to the law card of Messrs. Bramlette & Van Winkle, in our columns to-day. These gentlemen will attend to business in the Federal Courts and the Court of Appeals, and will practice in Boyle, Anderson, Frankfort and adjacent counties. Offices in Frankfort and Danville.

WE direct the attention of readers to the advertisement of Thos. P. Ward, commissioner, offering a farm and other valuable property for sale in Butler County, Ky., to take place on the 12th of October.

ACCIDENT.—Joe Smith, a messenger of the Adams Express Company, was thrown from the express wagon, on Center street, between Green and Walnut. He fell with such force as to dislocate his thigh.

STATE FAIR.—The cars commence running for the State fair at half-past seven o'clock this morning, making trips every half hour through the day.

ADMISSION.—See Mr. Barnes' reduced price list of gold pens in another column. — sel5 d5

ROBBERY OF $700.—A man by the name of Thomas P. Conn, who resides in Black Hawk county, Iowa, was robbed of $700 in this city under the following circumstances: He had been a soldier in the army, and left N.Y. for this city on last Friday morning. On the train he made the acquaintance of Orlando K. Murry and a man who sailed under the title of Lieutenant Lee. The three, on arriving there, proceeded to the National Hotel, where there were all given one room. Upon arriving at the hotel, Murry and Conn each deposited with the clerk of the hotel a package, that of the latter containing $700. That night Lee and Conn went out on a spree, visiting a number of houses of ill-fame, and when they returned to the hotel Conn was intoxicated. Early the following morning, before 5 o'clock, Lee left, drawing from the safe a package on a check which he had. About noon Conn and Murry left in a bus for the Jeffersonville train. Before starting, Conn went to the office of the hotel, in company with Murry, to get his package, and not being able to find his check, gave a receipt, written by Murry, for the package. Upon this receipt the package was delivered, and as Conn was still under the influence of liquor, Murry took possession of the package, supposing it to be all right. When on the Jeffersonville ferry, Murry handed the package to Conn, who refused to take it, saying that it was not his. The package was then examined by a Captain Dickson, and found to contain but one dollar treasury note, wrapped around a lot of paper. Conn suspected Murry of having taken his money, and on Sunday Murry was arrested and lodged in jail. Yesterday morning he had a hearing before Judge Johnson, and was discharged.

MIKE RILEY, drunk, abuse and cruel treatment of a dumb brute, and injuring the property of Mr. Ewald. The brute stabbed the horse with a knife, which bled profusely.
